FUND MANAGER SPEAKS

Equity market

Heightened inflation fears, interest rates inching up, a mixed earnings season, Standard and Poor's downgrade of Japan's long term sovereign credit rating and the Egypt crises caused sentiment to be subdued in the Indian market, with both the Sensex and Nifty closing down about 11% at 18,328 and 5506 respectively. Reflecting the lower risk appetite for emerging markets in general, the month saw large capitalization stocks broadly outperform mid and small caps even though marginally. FIIs were net sellers of USD 1 Billion (buyers of USD 450 million in December '10), while domestic mutual funds were net buyers of USD 129 million (buyers of USD 302 million in December '10). Banking, consumer durables, FMCG, health care, software, metals, power, PSU indices outperformed, while Oil & Gas was inline and auto, capital goods, infrastructure and realty underperformed the Sensex.

In economic data flow, the Index of Industrial Production (IIP) reported for the month of November '10 showed a weak growth of 2.7%YoY (11.3%YoY in October '10). For the year to date - April '10 to November '10 period, IIP grew at 9.5%YoY (compared to 7.4% same period last year). Year to date, manufacturing grew by 10%YoY, mining by 8%YoY and electricity by 4.5%YoY. On a use basis, year to date, capital goods grew by 22.5%. Strong growth in consumer goods of 6.8% was driven by growth of 21.7% YoY in consumer durables. The manufacturing Purchasing Managers Index for January '11 which is a leading indicator for the economy came in at 56.8 vs 56.7 in December 2010 indicating strength.

The corporate results for quarter ending December 2010 as reported by 1000 plus companies showed a sales growth of approx. 20%YoY with an operating profit growth of about 19.5% YoY and a PAT growth of approx. 25% YoY. Gross margins were hurt due to increase in raw material costs while other overheads limited operating profit growth. Net profit was helped by a strong other income growth of approx. 34%YoY. Interest costs have seen a definite increase especially in the mid tier companies. Margin pressure was visible in the auto segment, FMCG and capital goods space. Given expectation of higher inflation and interest rates, earnings estimates for the next year may need to be tweaked marginally.

On the policy front, on 25th of January '11 at its third-quarter review of monetary policy the Reserve Bank of India raised repo rate and reverse repo rate by 25 basis points each to 6.5% and 5.5% respectively, while keeping the cash reserve ratio at 6% of Net Demand and Time Liabilities (NDTL). The additional liquidity support facility of 1% of NDTL due to expire on 28th January '11, has been extended to 8th April '11. Importantly, RBI raised its headline inflation projection for March '11 to 7% from 5.5%, while sticking to its growth projection of 8.5% growth in GDP for the fiscal year. RBI noted that the role of monetary policy in the current inflationary situation is confined to containment and prevention of food and energy prices spilling over into generalized inflation and anchoring inflationary expectations. The need for increased fiscal discipline from the government side in the current scenario cannot be understated. It may be noted that the current account deficit is being largely financed by the volatile non FDI component of inflows which could be impacted by faster than expected global recovery and higher international commodity prices. At the same time, the absence of sustainable fiscal consolidation could be inflationary, while also crowding out private investments. All these macro concerns seem to be influencing investor behavior in the market in the short term. The Government in our view urgently needs to focus on fiscal consolidation for a more sustainable, non-inflationary growth in the Indian Economy.

In February '11, the global markets will closely watch the flow of economic data from US and EU as growth recovers in these developed economies. In addition to political issues in the Middle-east, inflation and its impact on the Chinese, Brazilian and Indian economy will influence global sentiment to emerging markets. In India, the market will look to the presentation of the Union Budget and Finance budget to understand future government policy direction.

Debt market

G-sec market started the month on a bearish note, with 10 year benchmark yield touching a high of 8.25% in the first half, up almost 34bps from the previous month close of 7.91%, due to rising inflation and fear of monetary tightening by RBI. However, post policy announcement, the market indulged in a rally of 8-10 bps in wake of the policy coming in line with market expectations and no steep rate hikes announced. Probable short covering also supported G-Sec prices. The 10 year benchmark yield closed the month at 8.14%.

In its Third Quarter Review of Monetary Policy Statement 2010-11, the RBI raised the key interest rates, viz. the Repo rate and the Reverse Repo rate by 25 bps each to 6.5% and 5.5% respectively. The RBI left the CRR unchanged at 6% and the SLR unchanged at 24%. The policy retained a hawkish stance and asserted inflation to be a dominant concern. The growth projection for FY 2010-11 is retained at 8.5%, with an upward bias added to the same. The WPI inflation for March end 2011 is revised upwards to 7% from the 5.5% projected earlier. The additional liquidity support to scheduled commercial banks under the LAF to the extent of up to 1% of their NDTL has also been extended till April 8.

Liquidity continued to remain tight during this month as well. The average borrowing by banks under LAF window during the month was to the tune of Rs.920 Bn, though the same improved marginally compared to average borrowing of Rs.1.16 Tn in the previous month. Apart from the huge surplus that the Government is maintaining with RBI (over Rs.1 Tn), the growing wedge between the deposit growth and the advance growth has contributed to the extended period of tight liquidity. As per the latest WSS report, the y-o-y growth in aggregate deposit stood at 16.44% compared to 23.58% increase in credit.

As a result of tight liquidity and the scrambling by banks for deposits, the money market rates continued to move upwards. While the 3 month CD rates at 9.5%, moved up 40-50 basis points compared to previous month, the one year CD rates at 9.90-9.95%, moved up 25-30 basis points. The activity in the corporate bonds remained lack luster amid tight liquidity. The AAA 10 year bond closed the month at 9.07% compared to 8.95% in the previous month, the 5 year AAA bond closed the month at 9.20% compared to 8.95% in the previous month.

The IIP growth for the month of Nov-10 again surprised markets with a lower than expected number of around 6.5% as per several newswire polls. The IIP Index in Nov-10 was at 317.9 implying a growth of 2.7%, lower than growth rate of 11.3% noted in Nov-09. The IIP for Oct-10 levels at 11.3% was revised upwards from 10.8%. Despite a lower monthly number, average growth rates are higher in Apr-Nov 2010 (9.5%) compared to Apr-Nov 09 (7.4%). Hence, overall industrial activity is still robust compared to the previous year.

WPI index increased from 142.3 in Nov-10 to 144.1 in Dec-10. This implied inflation for Dec-10 at 8.43% (y-o-y), higher than previous month inflation of 7.48%. For the month of Oct-10, the inflation was again revised upwards from 8.58% to 9.12%. The final inflation numbers continue to be revised upwards. Food article inflation has again jumped to double digits after declining to single digit in Nov-10. Core inflation for Dec-10 (Mfg ex food products) was at 5.36%, marginally higher than 5.32% witnessed in the month of November 2010.

Going forward, we expect the yield to remain range bound, in the short term. A positive surprise in the January-10 inflation and a weak IIP data for the December -10 (because of high base effect) may trigger a short term rally. However, given the overall inflationary pressures in the economy and the expected large borrowings for the next fiscal, we expect the yield to move to a higher range gradually in the next fiscal.

Notes and Data in the Fact Sheet

- The Std. Dev., Sharpe Ratio, Portfolio Beta & R-squared are based on one month return calculated using last 3 years data.
- Price/Earning Ratio, Price/Book Value Ratio, are based on the historical earnings and accounting numbers, and have been computed only for the invested portion of the portfolio.
- The standard deviation is used to measure the volatility of returns.
- Sharpe Ratio is the measure of the risk-adjusted performance. It is calculated by subtracting the risk-free rate from the average rate of return for a portfolio and dividing the result by the standard deviation of the portfolio returns.
- Beta is the measure of the portfolio's volatility to its respective benchmark.
- R-squared is a measurement of how closely a portfolio's performance correlates with the performance of benchmark index.
